miles of brown, with green cock-bles in their hats, 300 suffragettes tasted to-day to march from Edin-burgh to London, collecting signatures on their way to a monster petition to Premier Asquith, demanding "votes for women."

Mrs. Florence de Fonblanque was in ommand. She, her aides de camp and the standard bearer were mounted.
The other marchers will walk. From Edinburgh to London is about 400 miles. The suffragethes propose to cover ten or twelve miles daily, giving ample time, not only for solicitation of signatures to their petition, but for frequent meetings on the roads. Many militants were in the ranks, but throughout the march demonstrations of violence will be barred.

London. October 12.—A' little boy named Gilbert Gamer, aged two years and four months, residing at Mool Dorset, who was sitting at table while his parents were having ten, suddenly cried out and was seen to take one hand away from the teapot.

The mother concluded he had drunk some hot tra, and a doctor who was called in found him suffering from swollen larrnx and bronchial tubes. An operation was performed, but he died two hours afterward.

"I do not think the child drank anything from the teapot," said the doctor, "but he inhaled steam from the spout. The case was hopeless from the first."

Escape From Penitentiary, and There Is Reign of Terror at Rawlings.

THE Rawlings, Wye, October 12.—Twenty convicts, led by the notorious Jim Dalton, member of the Whitney gang of bank robbers, escaped through a broken fence in the penitecticry yard this afternoon. Eleven will were at large to-night, and the peniteitiety of their recapture is remote. It is believed they gained the bills nowh of the town before mightfall.

The reign of terror which exists to-might begun at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when from the penitentiary burst a bediam of shouts of convicts, and through the streets mineteen men in the prison uniform ran in a body.

Several horses and a grocery wagon were pressed into service by the convicts in their dash for fraedom.

Four of the fugitives hiding in a canyon north of Rawlings, were caught half an hour after the outbreak, and a fifth was captured while making for the railroad track.

Warden Alston captured two of the convicts singlehanded. INNER-PLAYER
